From the Pastor's Desk:

May 1st is the feast of St. Joseph the worker. While not the primary celebration of St. Joseph this feast allows us to celebrate St. Joseph in a way that we can all relate to him, as workers. We each work at home, in the world, at school, etc. so we can each draw strength from this humble Saint.

Patron of a Multitude

Joseph is the patron saint of many things, including fathers, the dying, social justice, unborn children, travelers, immigrants, a happy death, families, expectant mothers, travelers, house sellers and buyers, craftsmen, engineers, and working people in general.

Pope Pius XII Established the Feast Day

In 1955, Pius XII established the feast day of St. Joseph the Worker, explaining that "The spirit flows to you and to all men from the heart of the God-man, Savior of the world, but certainly, no worker was ever more completely and profoundly penetrated by it than the foster father of Jesus, who lived with Him in closest intimacy and community of family life and work."

He is patron of the Universal Church

In 1870, Bl. Pius IX declared St. Joseph patron of the Universal Church.

Quote less in the Bible

There's not one single quote from St. Joseph in the Bible; only a few details of his life were recorded.

We have Tradition on his Death

According to tradition, Joseph died in the arms of Jesus and Mary, which is why he is considered the model of the pious believer who receives grace at the moment of death, in other words, the patron of a happy death.

Long history of Devotion

Devotion for St. Joseph goes back to at least the 9th century, when he was commonly referred to as "nutritor Domini" meaning "guardian of the Lord."

Patron of Several Countries

He's the patron of the Americas, Canada, China, Croatia, Mexico, Korea, Austria, Belgium, Peru, the Philippines and Vietnam.

Prayer to St. Joseph: Joseph, by the work of your hands and the sweat of your brow, you supported Jesus and Mary, and had the Son of God as your fellow worker. Teach me to work as you did, with patience and perseverance, for God and for those whom God has given me to support. Teach me to see in my fellow workers the Christ who desires to be in them, that I may always be charitable and forbearing towards all. Grant me to look upon work with the eyes of faith, so that I shall recognize in it my share in God's own creative activity and in Christ's work of our redemption, and so take pride in it. When it is pleasant and productive, remind me to give thanks to God for it. And when it is burdensome, teach me to offer it to God, in reparation for my sins and the sins of the world. Amen.

FROM YOUR DIOCESE

APRIL 2024

FROM BISHOP RICHARD G. HENNING

THE RESPONSE TO CHILD SEXUAL ABUSE

Child sexual abuse poisons all segments of society - families, schools, churches, community organizations, and health and welfare institutions. The Centers for Disease Control estimates that 1 in 7 children in the United States experiences some form of childhood sexual abuse or neglect. That number is heartbreaking and cries out for a response.

The Catholic Church in the United States has experienced terrible revelations of sexual abuse by clergy and religious. The great majority of the allegations have been characterized as "historical" in that they concern sins committed decades ago. The pain of these sins was magnified when some Church leaders failed to respond properly to victim survivors and their families.

In my last column, I addressed the importance of the prevention of child sexual abuse, and I outlined some of the prevention efforts by the Diocese of Providence. Commitment to prevention is a critical element of the response to victim survivors, but it is not the whole of the story. Prevention might reassure victim survivors that the children of today are safer, but it does not heal the very real and serious wounds of those who have already suffered.

Child sexual abuse is a betrayal of trust and innocence. In most cases, perpetrators "groom" their victims, establishing and then breaking trust. In a very sinister way, abusers often manipulate the child into feeling complicit in their abuse. When such betrayal of trust is combined with the failure of other adults to protect a child, the wounds inflicted are lifelong.

As a Church, we have an obligation to respond lovingly to those who suffer so unjustly these sins against their human dignity and well-being. This begins by stating unequivocally that they are victim survivors and that they bear no responsibility for what was done to them. That sense of guilt and shame is an ongoing effect of the evil deeds of the perpetrator.

In those instances when the perpetrator of sexual abuse was a priest or religious, the survivor's relationship with God is deeply affected. The sense of betrayal and lost trust might apply to the Church or even God. Consider how painful a church setting or Catholic practices might be for a person who has suffered such evil deeds. The effects of clergy sexual abuse also extend beyond the victim survivors to their family and loved ones.

I am sorry to say that it is often very difficult for clergy victims and their families to trust the Church. For those who are willing, the Diocese of Providence has and does provide, and will continue to provide, financial assistance for psychological support services. For those who wish it, the diocese also offers appropriate pastoral care.

Victim survivors deserve compassionate accompaniment. Over my years of ministry, I have had the opportunity to know and share faith with survivors. They have been a true blessing to me as a priest and as a disciple of the Lord. As I near the first anniversary of my ministry here in Providence, those faces and voices are before my heart. Some years ago, the Diocese of Providence held a Mass for Hope and Healing, a prayerful support offered by many dioceses. I would like to make such a Mass an annual event to pray with and for survivors, their families, and their parish communities. During National Child Abuse Prevention Month, I have also asked our pastors to include petitions for healing in the Prayers of the Faithful.

In all humility, I ask that we all incorporate the spiritual accompaniment of victim survivors into our own prayer practices. I hope that we can express to victim survivors of sexual abuse in the Church, or in any other setting, our reverence for their sacred dignity and our compassionate love for them. They are our brothers and sisters. We long for them to join us in the communion of the Church. We need their witness of resilient faith and healing.

Would you join me now as you read this column by praying this prayer:

“God of endless love, ever caring, ever strong, always present, always just: You gave your only Son to save us by the blood of his cross.

Gentle Jesus, shepherd of peace, join to your own suffering the pain of all who have been hurt in body, mind, and spirit by those who betrayed the trust placed in them.

Hear the cries of our brothers and sisters who have been gravely harmed, and the cries of those who love them. Soothe their restless hearts with hope, steady their shaken spirits with faith.

Grant them justice for their cause, enlightened by your truth.

Holy Spirit, comforter of hearts, heal your people's wounds and transform brokenness into wholeness. Grant us the courage and wisdom, humility and grace, to act with justice.

Breathe wisdom into our prayers and labors.

We ask this through Christ, our Lord. Amen.”

Classroom News.. Mrs. Megan Reitz
Middle School Social Studies & 7th & 8th Religion

We continue to make progress in Religion and Social Studies in grades 6-8. In 6th grade Religion class, The Israelites have almost reached the Promised Land in our study of the Old Testament! We have followed Moses as he has led the Israelites out of slavery in Egypt to their final destination, the "Land of milk and honey.!" This has been a long, long journey for the Israelites with many lessons taught by God throughout their journey.

In 6th grade Social Studies class, we have studied many different ancient civilizations, including Mesopotamia, Sumer, Israel, and India. We are currently studying ancient China. The students have been especially curious about the Silk Road. Next, we study ancient Greece and Rome before we wrap up for the summer.

In 7th grade Religion, we are continuing to learn about the life of Christ. We follow along in scripture and word and see how Jesus taught us through the parables. The lessons of Jesus are endless! We are striving to put our faith into action in all that we do.

In 7th grade Social Studies class, we have finished our unit on the Constitution and are learning about the fragility of our young country after the Revolutionary War. They have memorized the Preamble and did a great job! There is much to be learned from the Framers of the Constitution and we are enjoying the history behind the document.

In 8th grade Religion, we continue to study for the Sacrament of Confirmation in the fall. The students are learning and growing so much in their faith! It is wonderful to see!

In 8th grade Social Studies class, we are studying about immigration in the late 1800's, and early 1900's. The big news is we have started another play! The students are really enjoying writing the play and are making sure to be making it historically accurate for the time period. We can't wait for it!
